QUALIFICATION OF PRACTICAL INSTRUCTORS

Principals of training centres

The Principal or Chief Instructor of a sailing centre shall hold a current Yachtmaster® Instructor qualification for sail and/or power as appropriate.

Instructors

All Instructors teaching RYA practical courses must hold a Yachtmaster® Offshore Certificate of Competence and either a Cruising Instructor, Yachtmaster® Instructor or Yachtmaster® Examiner Qualification for the discipline they intend to teach. The Instructor Endorsement is valid for 5 years, after which time they should attend an RYA update.

What courses can I teach?

When teaching at an RYA Recognised Teaching Centre, instructors may teach up to the following levels of course;

RYA Cruising Instructors teach up to Day Skipper Practical.

RYA Yachtmaster® Instructors teach up to Coastal Skipper Practical.

RYA Yachtmaster® Instructors teach preparation courses for RYA/MCA Coastal Skipper and Yachtmaster® examinations.

Qualifying Courses

Sail

Qualifying courses are of five days duration and are run by the RYA and the National Centres at Plas Menai, Cumbrae or on an RTC's vessel, given sufficient numbers.

Power

Qualifying courses are normally of three days duration and are organised by the RYA or on an RTC's vessel, given sufficient numbers.

Note: Cruising Instructor Courses can be run by RYA Training Centres or the RYA

Course eligibility and retirement

All RYA instructors working commercially require a Basic Sea Survival Certificate (RYA or STCW 95 equivalent) and a valid Medical Fitness Certificate. The medical certificate can be an ML5, ENG1 or a medical issued by a National Maritime Authority.

Due to the arduous nature of practical training afloat, the recommended retirement age is 70. Instructors over 70, wishing to continue will be required to update every 2 years. All instructors will update by their 72nd year and then 2 yearly thereafter.

Instructor course retakes

Following a practical course, if a partial retake is required, candidates will be able to have two opportunities to pass before having to retake the whole course. There will of course be those candidates who will be required to retake the whole course again after the initial course, if necessary. Retakes are at the candidates expense.

YACHTMASTER® INSTRUCTOR QUALIFYING COURSES

Eligibility:

Commercial Endorsement(see page 5)
RYA YM Offshore Certificate of Competence	Basic Sea Survival
VHF (Restricted) Operators Licence	Medical Fitness Examination
First Aid Certificate (see page 5)	(ML5 or ENG1) or medical
Cruising Instructor Certificate	issued by a National Maritime
More than 7000 miles	Authority

During the course each candidate's skippering ability is tested, particularly the skills of pilotage, boat handling and navigation. The candidate should be able to demonstrate any part of the Coastal Skipper syllabus in G15 or G18 and to explain any part of the Coastal Skipper/Yachtmaster® Offshore Shorebased course.

The candidates will be taught how to conduct RYA courses and be shown some of the recommended techniques and some of the pitfalls to be avoided. The course will be similar in many ways to a normal training course with skippered passages, sessions on boat handling and navigation followed by debriefings. The emphasis is on how to instruct rather than how to skipper or crew a yacht.

Teaching potential is also assessed. Essentially this means being able to generate interest and communicate clearly on deck and around the chart. The best instructors are first class skippers who can run cheerful, well organised and instructional cruises.

Most problems and complaints from students on courses stem from inconsiderate and unsympathetic behaviour by the instructor. Living with different groups of strangers at close quarters calls for considerable reserves of fortitude and sociability. Instructors who are likely to upset their crews may be failed.

During and at the end of the course, each candidate is fully debriefed, given the reasons for pass or failure and an appraisal of strengths and weaknesses. This is intended to be a positive and constructive method of helping instructors to be self critical.

CRUISING INSTRUCTOR QUALIFICATION

Valid for Instructors teaching Start Yachting, Competent Crew/Helmsmans and Day Skipper practical courses at an existing RYA Training Centre.

Eligibility:

YM Offshore Certificate of Competence	Basic Sea Survival
VHF/SRC Operator's Licence	Medical Fitness Examination (ML5 or ENG1)
First Aid Certificate(see page 5)	or medical issued by a National Maritime Authority

A candidates ability and knowledge should be above the level of Yachtmaster.

Note: The first aid and commercial endorsement requirements apply to all potential and existing Cruising Instructors and Yachtmaster Instructors.

Validity: Valid for Instructors teaching Start Yachting, Competent Crew/Helmsmans and Day Skipper practical courses at an existing RYA Training Centre. The qualification is valid for five years. After five years the RYA Cruising Instructor must either attend an update with the RYA, or take a Yachtmaster Instructor Qualifying Course.

Assessment: The Cruising Instructor qualification is obtained by assessment. Most assessments follow a Cruising Instructor Training Course. The assessment must be conducted by the Centre Principal or Chief Instructor who has held a valid Yachtmaster Instructor Qualification for over two years and has a wide teaching experience. No more than two candidates may be examined in one day. Candidates will be assessed on their general suitability for instruction, as well as specific skills. A reassessment can be organised if the potential Cruising Instructor underperforms in a particular area.

If the RYA is not satisfied with the level of competency of the Cruising Instructor, it has the right to withdraw the qualification.

Syllabus: It is strongly recommended that a Cruising Instructor course is attended to learn how to instruct, debrief and show that technical skills are at the required standard. It is recommended that this course is a minimum of 2 days for Power or three days for Sail. Courses of 4-5 days are the norm for Sail Cruising Instructors. The course should be run by Yachtmaster Instructors with at least two seasons' teaching experience, preferably someone who has had a part in the organisation and running of a RYA RTC. Attendance of a Cruising Instructor course and assessment does not guarantee a pass.

Once qualified as an RYA FA Instructor the FAW, or an equivalent, must be kept in-date. An RYA, or any other one day first aid course, will not be accepted.

Doctors, Nurses with recent appropriate acute experience, and paramedics are exempt from the need for a first aid certificate, but must be aware of current first aid practices shown in edition 9 of the St Johns/St Andrews/Red Cross First Aid Manual. Once retired and no longer practicing a first aid certificate will be required after 3 years.
